The Chinese Must Go.

About 1 o'clock this afternoon, just at the hour when lazy people, who believe in three meals per diem, were quietly enjoying their noon repast the alarm of fire rang out on the sultry air, announcing that the Chinese wash-house next to the Wm. Tell house, was in a state pending active configuration. We knew that Smith Hill had shorted on the city water, and naturally expected to have a decent local at the expense of the heathen Chinese. Alas! It might have been had not the Celestials with a little mundane assistance extinguished the combustion. The fire originated from that familiar inducer of so many fires—a defective stovepipe. The prospects at one time were first-class for a number one fire. The flames leaped heavenward, etc., but the John's gave them a terrestrial aspect with a few excited ejaculations and three old oyster cans of water. The populace dispersed and sought beer and the shade, while Getchell interposed complaint that "48's" new hose cart should have no chance for pyrotechnical recognition.

NARROW ESCAPE.—Monday afternoon Mr. Robert Morrison, who resides near Glendale, had a narrow escape from losing his life by an attack from a vicious horse. Mr. Morrison has recently purchased a large horse which is not yet broken to harness. He went out to the barn unattended by any one and commenced to harness his horse, but whilst attempting to put on the bridle, the horse reared up on his hind feet and struck Mr. M. a severe blow with both fore feet, knocking him across the manger. Before he had regained his footing the horse struck him again, knocking him this time to the ground immediately in front of the manger, and kicked or struck him again. Finally Mr. Morrison effected his escape, but is now just able to move about the house. He regards his escape as a very narrow one, indeed.

TAX-PAYERS' MEETING CONCLUDED.

The attendance at the tax-payers' meeting last evening was much better than on Friday evening last. Mr. Cain, District Attorney, took the floor and proceeded to defend the action of himself and the Commissioners. They had found nothing wrong with matters after examining the first grand jury report. The full Board, District Attorney, Clerk and Auditor, had examined these matters and found them correct.

Alexander—Did Mr. Williams pass upon these matters as correct after the report?

Cain—That's the way I understood him.

Mr. Williams who was present, refused to substantiate Mr. Cain's statement, saying that he had nothing to do with the examination.

Mr. Cain went on to argue that the grand jury was not infallible. He would say nothing about the Judge for he could take care of himself. Ten persons had examined the Sheriff's account and found it correct. In regard to allowances made in the Rover case, they were right. The witnesses had been allowed $50, $45 might have been enough, but these Humboldt men drank some whisky and it was represented that they ought to be given their actual expenses. The allowances were said to be below actual expenses on the second trial. This was after our bills had been rejected. The attorney's fees in that case were alright, because the lawyers had followed the case to this county. In regard to charges against himself speaker would say very little.

The charge of $5 50 for going to Verdi was right; he always paid one dollar fare; was told that he could go for seven bits; did not know whether conductor pocketed other bit or not. He had given Charles Queen, who was fond of such cases, five dollars to go up, and hoped the Workingmen would not expect Charley for taking the money. The speaker claimed that he had the right to verify any claim growing out of his office; the Attorney-General supported him; the grand jury was wrong in saying that the Clerk overcharged in matter of jury certificates, that was wrong.

Beck—"We did not report that as overcharge."

Cain—"Yes, I guess you did."

Beck—"I state it as a fact that we did not. We thought, however, that it cost too much."

Mr. Cain resumed by saying that the Rover transcript business was right. The Supreme Court had thrown it out because it was not properly in the case, but the Clerk ought to have pay for the work done.

Beck—"Read the decision of the Supreme Court on that point."

Cain—"Oh, I've read it."

Beck—"Let me read about five lines."

Cain—"I'll read it for you."

Mr. Cain did not read it but proceeded to say that the grand jury was right in the matter of inquest cases; twenty-five cents was all the Clerk should get; he had fought the Board on that; Hyman went to Virginia to see about it and said on his return: "Well, Cain, you'll have to give in," but Cain did not.

The military roll charge was also correct, and he quoted several charges of Shoemaker's upon this and other points which Mr. Cain thought were precedent for Mr. Comstock.

Mr. Cain said that he did not assert that the Clerk's bills were all right, but if we took out these matters which had been explained there was only $282 left.

Beck—"Take that out and there won't be anything."

In conclusion Mr. Cain defended the Commissioners, said they had no power to return upon their acts and he had no right to put his judgment up against the County Commissioners. Everything would come out right and we should have peace.

Mr. Alexander took the floor and said that although Mr. Cain had taken most of the evening, he desired, with that gentlemen's permission to ask him a few questions. The speaker was at loss to understand what caused

Mr. Cain to change his mind so often. Perhaps he was wrong before the jury and right now, if so it was desirable to know that fact. He had admitted that things were wrong by implication once and now they were all right. The speaker disclaimed any intention of discourtesy to Mr. Cain, but would with his permission ask some plain questions.

Mr. Cain assented.

Q—"Did you ever give the grand jury a direct answer to one of their questions?"

Cain—"I think I did."

The speaker contradicted the assertion and referred to any number, from the Chairman, Mr. Duck, down.

Q—"Did you not when before us admit that some things in the Sheriff's account were wrong, and express astonishment at them?"

Cain—"I think I did; I said the bills were not properly made out."

The question called for a direct answer, which Mr. Cain did not give.

Q—"Did you not admit the Flynn bill and others of the kind were wrong?"

A—"I don't remember it; don't think I did."

The questioner called Mr. C. A. Bragg as testimony to Cain's action before the committee. That gentleman contradicted Mr. Cain's assertions, and said he reminded him of one Bradley, who testified at one term of Court and then appeared in the same case at a subsequent term. After he had testified, a lawyer asked the Court if that was the same Bradley. "Yes; it is," "Well," said he, "I should have never recognized him by his testimony." That was the way with Cain. He was not the same man before the committees and before the people.

Shortly after Mr. Bragg arose, Mr. Cain took his hat and left, declining an invitation to remain and explain matters further. Mr. Alexander pointed out his inconsistency and unwillingness to answer a direct question, affirming that such evasion and such action had led up, in a great measure, to the trouble. Disclaiming any desire to prolong the meeting or occupy the house's attention, the speaker gave way.

Mr. Beck offered a resolution that M. C. Lake, C. A. Bragg, J. F. Alexander, C. A. Gibson, and Alvaro Evans be added to the investigating committee previously appointed. He defended his resolution; said the first report had been squelched, and they had, in his absence, bulldozed his resolution; he proposed merely that the grand jury be represented.

Dr. Hogan offered a substitute, and arose to a question of privilege to say that on the first night he had intended nothing wrong by his motion to adjourn. He had heard it rumored on the streets, but it was wrong.

Mr. Soderberg and Mr. White offered a substitute.

Mr. Waldo offered a substitute. No second.

Mr. Bowman did not like what the Gazette had said about the committee, but approved of Dr. Hogan's plan.

The Chair claimed that he had appointed the committee with good motives.

The substitutes were all defeated, and Mr. Beck's motion carried unanimously. That gentleman said he was willing that discussion should cease. He had lots more to say, but would not claim any more time. The military roll, for which the Clerk charged two and a half days work, had been copied in good form for Mr. B. It took just four hours and thirty minutes to do the work. Mr. Beck endorsed the showing which had been made against Cain, and said his action was the same with the last grand jury.

On motion of Mr. Duck the check for $1,000 was returned to Mr. Beck. Meeting adjourned without day.

CLOSING EXERCISES.—It was not our pleasure to witness the commencement exercises of Mt. St. Mary's Academy last evening, but we learn from others that the entertainment was entirely satisfactory to the large number present. For this evening an excellent programme has been prepared and a dance provided for. Admission fifty cents. The dance and refreshments, of course, are in the nature of extras. There should be a full house to-night at Smith's Academy of Music.

FROM BODIE.—A gentleman from Bodie says that the Standard mine has enough ore in sight to run for two years, and that the Richter mine will prove a most valuable piece of mining property. He thinks that a number of good mines will yet be developed in the southern part of this district, but fears that the high wages charged by the miners may prove a drawback to this promising camp. Four dollars per day is too high a figure for wages when any number of good men may be obtained for $2 per day.

PEACHES.—Peaches are offered for sale in our markets, but the buyers are almost as scarce as this fruit is high in price. A club of bankers et al. may club together and purchase a half dozen. We have spoken for the peeling, or a chance in a lottery for the kernel.

BRANCH SUIT AND CLOAK HOUSE. Well Brothers announce to the people of Reno that they have just opened in Reno a branch of the Cleveland Suit and Cloak company. As they get their goods directly from the manufactory they can, therefore, undersell all other Reno merchants and yet make a profit on their goods. We have no auction trash, nor do we propose to sell for twenty-five cents what is worth one dollar. We therefore take pleasure in inviting the ladies of Reno and vicinity to call and inspect our stock resting assured that we shall be able to satisfy them both as regard to price and quality of the goods. Store on east side of Virginia street, Reno, Nevada. WELL BROTHERS. 6-5-tf.

THE CHINESE MUST GO.—So says J. Loewenthal, on Virginia street, adjoining Barnett's block, as he is prepared to make pants to order and guarantee a fit, for the small sum of $6 and upwards and all other clothes at correspondingly low prices at the great I. X. L. Combination Store. LOOK! LOOK! LOOK!—$5,000 REWARD.—To anyone who dares to undersell J. Loewenthal in first class goods, of gent's clothing, furnishing goods and all kinds of wearing apparel. Also gloves of the best quality sold cheap and made to order, at the great I. X. L. Combination Store, adjoining Barnett's block, Virginia street. 5-29-tf

RENO, WASHOE COUNTY, NEVADA
WEDNESDAY, JUNE 5, 1878.

OUR INSANE.

A special reporter of the Virginia Chronicle has visited the insane asylum at Stockton, where Nevada farms her insane wards. He finds nothing wrong but concludes in the following strain:

I have visited the California State asylum at this place and am acquainted with the treatment of the insane there. I come to this conclusion, this judgment: That the insane of Nevada are as well housed, as well clothed, as well fed and as skillfully treated as are any other insane persons on this coast. You wanted the truth. You have it.

The Chronicle reporter evidently made quite a thorough examination, but we should prefer to know the result of an investigation made in an off time, when there was less stir in regard to the institution. It is rather poor policy to send word to a man that you will come down and see whether he keeps his house clean. That house will be clean upon your arrival. We have not believed in the charges as made against Messrs. Langdon and Clark, but we do believe that the time has come for us to have our State institution. There can be no argument, economical or sanitary, which will encourage the maintenance of a private asylum in another State. There is nothing but speculation and chicanery in such contracts and the mode in which they are secured. Dishonest legislators are the only men who would allow their State to occupy such a pitiable position for years without attempting a remedy. These inspections are about as valuable as a blind policeman, and are calculated to smooth the main issue, so that it may be lost.

It matters not whether Langdon & Clark are models of generosity or fiends in human shape. This general jobbing of every price of State work to the highest California bidder is played out. We want a State asylum in Nevada. We don't want a California man to manage it. We want a Legislature which will recognize Nevada as free and independent, and build up her public institutions in accordance with her rank among the productive States of this Union. We can then step over and inspect alleged abuses ourselves without the trouble of going to some foreign country.

PACIFIC COAST TIMBER.

The timber laws have been changed at last by the passage of the bills proposed last winter, as a solution of difficulties between the Interior Department and the lumbermen of this coast.

All doubt as to the fate of the two Pacific coast timber-land bills were set at rest Monday by the official announcement made to the Senate that the President had approved them. Although they go immediately upon the statute books as laws of that date, they will not become effectual for practical purposes until the regulations and instructions required by their terms to be prescribed and issued by the Commissioner of the General Land Office and the Secretary of the Interior shall have been received at the various local land offices. The preparation and issuance of these regulations will probably require about a fortnight. One of these bills provides for the sale of timber lands in California, Oregon, Nevada and Washington Territory, and also for individual use of timber from public lands by miners and agriculturists, purchasing it. The other bill authorizes timber to be taken for mining and domestic purposes only from mineral lands in Nevada, Colorado and the Territories.

"We are a Republican, but we want a Democrat for Attorney-General, and a Democrat for Governor, and a Democrat for Constable. We are a Democrat, but damn Bradley and Jewett Adams and both their houses. We are an Independent—but we are tired of honest men. Give us a thief! We are a little of everything, but we are down on every man who wants office and don't subscribe for our paper. We are the only reformer and great champion of the people between hell and breakfast. Any man who thinks we ain't anything and everything we say we are is a dirty liar and would steal the pennies from the eyes of a deceased African." The foregoing is a condensed compilation of the editorials in the Carson Tribune for the past week.—Reveille.

It is feared the late frosts killed all the young fruit in the neighborhood of Fort Churchill.

HELP HIM.

The date of our spring races has now been definitely settled, and a reading of the programme will show that Mr. Norcross has been generous in his provision for a successful meeting. We commend his magnanimity to the Carsonites as an example worthy of imitation, and hope that it may increase the success which already seems assured to the meeting. The track is in the best of order and every accommodation is ready for use. There is already stock enough at the track to fill the races, and more is yet to come. The lessee does not expect to make money out of this spring meeting, but believes it can be made a benefit to the town. There will be ample proof of his judgment if our citizens show the proper spirit in helping the matter along. We should all do something by way of extending invitations to friends in other towns to be present. We have an excellent programme to talk about and should make its provisions known to outsiders. If you have no horses you can talk, at least, and make known to everybody the prominent features of the meeting appointed for June 27th, 28th and 29th.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The recent attempts to assassinate Emperor William in Germany are a result of the communistic spirit which now seems to be spreading in all lands. There are men in Germany who deserve lynching; also in America. Potter committee please take notice.

Albert Adams, the young man who was killed by R. A. Clark in Carson, on Sunday, was buried in Carson on Tuesday. The community does not justify the killing, but remembers Adams as a good young man, who left many friends to mourn for his untimely death.

The Eureka Republican says that Cassidy has been healed by Tom Williams on account of the latter's senatorial aspirations. From another quarter comes the report that General Tom will put up one millions duets for patriotic purposes, while the Enterprise avers that General Thomas H. Williams will not hurl his castor into the ring on any consideration. A more pronounced rumor is to the effect that General Williams will stump the State to beat Cassidy for Congress, in return for that gentleman's attention years ago.

A favorite plank in the Kearneyite State and county platforms of the Workingmen is, that the pardoning power shall be abolished, the State Constitution being changed to that effect.—Exchange.

Yes, and the Kearneyites are about right in this regard. Executive clemency crops out rather too strongly both in this State and California. Donovan and Harrington were sent to the Nevada penitentiary for murder. After a few months they were pardoned. Donovan killed his second or third man in less than two years, while Harrington again gratified his thirst for blood in about one year. Both have been returned to their old quarters.—Eureka Sentinel.

The Eureka Republican, after setting forth the fact that George W. Cassidy actually cherishes a hope that the people of Nevada will send him to represent them in Congress, reviews that gentleman's record in this way:

The most distinguished act of his senatorial career was the open repudiation of the pledges which secured his election over an opponent who had the advantage of being a gentleman. The main issue between Cassidy and the gentleman was the modification of the bullion tax. The gentleman believed that the tax should be modified. Cassidy gave his word of honor to the people that his vote should be against any modification, and on that pledge he was elected. How shamelessly he forewore himself has not been forgotten.

Among the largest items in the general deficiency bill, now pending in Congress, are the following for the fiscal year ending June, 1878: Navy, $766,000; civil establishments in navy yards, $82,000; postmasters, $400,007; revenue department of the postoffice, $550,000; for repayment to importers the excess of deposits for unascertained duties, etc., $250,000; for refunding of taxes illegally or erroneously collected under the revenue laws, $150,000; for defraying expenses of United States Courts, federal and circuit, and suits, prosecutions, etc., $20,000. The bill aggregates $1,106,000 for the payment of certain claims under the navy department, incurred by Secretary Robeson. The committee left without recommendations, $2,400,000 of similar claims to be acted on by the house.
